Pipe Dreams - No really, there is a website!!!

By Dick Wilcox

Okay, I don't blame you if you don't believe us but, there really is a new Uniflex Website. Linda and I finally threw in the towel and hired two local guys, Brent Cotter and Philip Brewer, who own Frontier Media, to design our new website. It is now up and running and we hope you will find it informative and helpful. Linda will be working on the blog and hopes to be adding general information about Uniflex and our many installations. I am anxious to get started on the forum and hope you will post questions and comments so we can all benefit from each other's knowledge and experiences.

We are anxious to hear your feedback and hope you will take a few minutes to navigate our site and send us a quick email with your thoughts and suggestions. Check us out at:

Day Dreams - So Little Time.

By Linda Wilcox

It just fascinates me how very fast the days and months fly. It seems I just begin to adjust to one season when I realize it is about to end and the next is about to begin. I always have such great plans to get organized, to accomplish a few new goals, to finish projects started long ago, or to attend to things that should have been a priority but always got overlooked. This Spring appears to be no different only I have taken on even more in that I am now serving as

Firehouse Pipes

A Brief Update

We continue to make good use of the Firehouse Pipes and the Page Organ. We enjoyed a silent film accompanied by Justin Nimmo at the Masquerade Ball and another at our Christmas party. The Preservation Society celebrated First Friday in February at the Firehouse and we all enjoyed a few songs from the Page, thanks to the Uniflex playback ability. Additionally, the Firehouse plays host to yoga classes, the occasional birthday party and Financial Peace classes.

the City Court Judge for our community. Nevertheless, I am determined to accomplish more. My first task is to make a commitment to our newsletter. Please let me know if you have a particular topic or tidbit of interest which you would like included in our next edition. I promise to keep it brief and hopefully cogent as I know you are all just as short on time as I am.

Carpe Diem!

Thoughts of the Future - Customer Contacts

Dick continues to work diligently to provide quality and timely customer service. He is almost always available by email (dick@uniflex.com) or phone (765-232-4674). For too long, he was viewed as the "man behind the curtain" but since taking on the day to day responsibilities of sales and service, he really finds the customer contact to be extremely rewarding. We hope you feel comfortable to contact him with questions or perhaps, you might try posting your questions on the forum at www.uniflex.com and you may get several responses. Whether you call, email, or post, please choose the avenue that works best for you. Do not suffer in silence. We want to help.

It has been some time since I have updated our email list. If you could send me a brief email with any changes in your contact information or the installations you serve, I would be very grateful. I hope to keep in closer touch and provide you with news about changes and advances at Uniflex.

Watch for an exciting new development soon.
Hope you'll be as thrilled as we are!

It's a New Day- Social Networking.

Social networking has become nearly a necessity in today's world. Surprisingly, although he is the computer genius, Dick defers to me when it comes to Facebook and Twitter. I finally convinced him to set up a Facebook page but he finds himself with too little time to actually use it. I, on the other hand, check my page daily. I must say I have learned a great deal about organ installations all over the world from the numerous Facebook postings. More importantly, I have become acquainted with so many talented organists! I hope to give more attention to our Uniflex page in the coming months. If we are not yet friends, please send me a request and please "like" our Uniflex page.

If you anticipate ordering a new Uniflex system, or an upgrade or even a spare board or two within the next several months, please give us a "heads up" as soon as possible. We are reviewing our inventory and want to make sure we have all the necessary items so that we can ship immediately. We pride ourselves in getting orders out ASAP! We value your support and your business.
